Shooting Victim's Daughter Tipped Sheriff on Suspect

The victim's daughter allegedly put police on the trail of the man suspected of shooting a Rotten Bayou fishing camp owner, Johnny Sanford, 61, early Tuesday morning.

Sanford's daughter, Mrs. Ralph Boykin of Biloxi, told Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. that her critically injured father said while being taken by ambulance to Biloxi VA Hospital, that the unidentified assailant could have been Buford Dees, 65, Collins farmer and former equipment salesman.

The firer of the gun was identified by Sanford, a former Covington County Sheriff, as being about 5 feet 10 inches tall, 200 pounds, between 50 and 55 and gray-haired. Dees fits the description fairly well with the exception of his hair, which is black, Ladner said.

Arrested late Tuesday for investigation of assault and battery with intent to kill, he told officers he was not on the Coast Tuesday and had not seen Sanford for six years. In 1950, while Sanford was sheriff, the two engaged in a shooting scrape over domestic quarrels.

Dees was released in custody of Covington County Sheriff Dale Shoemaker but Sheriff Ladner said an investigation of his alibi would be continued. Others questioning him were Chief Deputy Carl Garcia and Kenneth Fairley, of the identification bureau of the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

If the suspects alibi holds up, Hancock County officers will have to "start from scratch" in their investigation, Ladner said. A pistol slug, removed from the wall at Sanford's Cabin, will be compared in a ballistic test with a revolver found in Dees' home, Sheriff Ladner said. Another slug, which the sheriff had hoped to have tested, is lodged in the injured man's liver, and probably cannot be removed.

Sanford, who underwent emergency surgery Tuesday to remove the lodged slug, was shot about 4:45 a.m., when awakened by a man who knocked at his door. The man fired twice, one slug hitting Sanford in the abdomen and the other crashing into the wall. Seizing a .45 caliber pistol Sanford fired three times as his assailant leaped into a automobile and drove away at high speed.

A young Meridian couple vacationing at the camp, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rawson of 2030 State Blvd., were the only other occupants of the camp when the shooting occurred.

Rawson said he was awakened by the sound of shots and heard the automobile roaring off at high speed afterward. Finding Sanford wounded, Rawson rushed him to Gulfport Memorial Hospital where he was treated and transferred to Biloxi for emergency surgery.

Sanford's former wife, Velma, lives at Collins. He has three daughters, Mrs. Boykin, Mrs. Billie Merle Bell of Paducah, Ky., and Jackie Sanford, Jackson, and two sons, Joe Sanford of South Carolina and Bobby Sanford of Magee, Miss.

Morals Charges Net Three Years in Prison

Two concurrent three-year sentences to the state penitentiary were imposed Monday in Circuit Court to a local man convicted on two serious morals charges.

Nicholas Antonica, appearing before Circuit Court Judge Leslie Grant, changed his original plea of not guilty to guilty. In other criminal cases during the week, Melvin J. Johnston drew a two-year suspended sentence on two grand larceny charges and a Walter Gorman, Negro, got five years, suspended, in three indictments for burglary and larceny. Both men were placed on probation.

Three $100,000 damage cases involving charges of libel and slander, originally scheduled for Thursday, the last day of this three-week term, were continued until the next term of court.

In two cases T. T. Reboul, Hancock County Hospital Board member, was charged with slander by A. Frank Selph and Norton Haas, also hospital board members, involving remarks he allegedly made at board meetings.

In a third case, Samuel Ballard, former Bay St. Louis newspaper publisher, was charged with libel by Norton Haas, in reference to an article published concerning the hospital board.

Clyde Prentiss Ellis, alias Clyde P. Broome was sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to bigamy.

A $14,000 out of court settlement reportedly was made after non-suiting of a $250,000 damages suit brought by the widow of a man who died a year and a half after an accident on U. S. 90.

Mrs. Juanita Henry Dorsett charged in Circuit Court last week that her deceased husband, John B. Dorsett, died in August, 1958 as a result of injuries received when his car collided with a Howard Van Lines, Inc. truck in January, 1957.

The plaintiff charged that her husband was traveling east on U. S. 90 when the truck came onto the highway from the weighing station, immediately in front of her husband's car.

Other cases heard since Thursday morning include: The Borden Company vs. Charles Carter and John Scafide, d/b/a C and S Fine Foods, two cases, passed to the files; Cliff W. Wing Jr. vs. Roger Heitzmann and Carl Heitzmann, d/b/a Superior Supply Company, dismissed with prejudice at cost of plaintiff; Sears Roebuck and Co. vs. George Garcia, passed to the files; Robert A. Epperson vs. William R. Mackey and Mrs. William R. Mackey, set aside to

Mayor Issues Good Friday Proclamation

Good Friday has been designated as a day of holy and general observance in Bay St. Louis by Mayor John A. Scafide. Joining him in requesting the city's businesses to mark the occasion by closing their doors were Commissioners J. Cyril Glover and Warren Traub.

Text of the proclamation, issued March 16, follows: Realizing the solemnity of the Memorable Day of Good Friday, and that the Christian World, bows in sorrow and sympathy, commemorating the World's Greatest Tragedy, and

That it is but meet and proper that our people, too, set aside every day activities as far as possible and practicable with their every day life and pursuit, to do honor and to further glorify the Resurrection of One who was sacrificed and suffered the expiation of sins of Mankind,

"That, in order to pay tribute to the Holy Redeemer, I, as mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, do hereby proclaim Good Friday, March 27, 1959, as a day of holy and general observance; that our acts and attitude be such as to reverence to the day.

And, as a further attestation of our feelings of respect and sorrow, and as an outward mark, I would respectfully ask that every place of business in the City of Bay St. Louis close their doors and cease business on this day to commemorate the hours of agony Our Lord suffered on the cross.

County Churches, Citizenry Ready for Easter's Arrival

Traditional music, new spring finery and, it is hoped, sunny skies will herald the celebration of the Christian resurrection Easter Sunday in Catholic and Protestant churches throughout the county which climaxes the Lenten season.

Special music for Sunday's 11:30 a.m. high mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will begin before the mass with singing of the Videri. During the mass the choir will sing the Kyrie of St. Albert's mass, by O. Ravenello and the Gregorian Chant, The Regina Coeli will be sung during the offertory.

Red Cross Drive 80 Per Cent Short

Collections are lagging in the fourth week of the Red Cross fund drive this month, with only 20 per cent of the goal brought in so far, reported co-chairmen Robert L. Hamilton and W. Ray Gordon. About $700 has been collected by door to door canvassers throughout the county. The goal is $3,752, of which $1,737 will be sent to national headquarters.

Choir members include Prof. Joseph Hemmersbach organist; Mrs. Walter Hava, directress; and Mesdames Oscar Poynot, Theodore Thomas, Watson Johns, William McClain, Edward Blaize and Lucien Raymond; Misses Veronica Mohr and Marie Hemmersbach, and Watson Johns, Arthur Chapman, Philip Scalfidi and J. Homestead Filing Deadline Nearing Eligible property owners in Hancock County are reminded by both city and county officials of the April 1 deadline for filing for homestead exemptions.

The exemption allows owners of property assessed at less than $5,000 to pay an 1 1/4 mill tax instead of the standard 30 mills. Owners of property assessed at $5,000 or more receive the reduction on only $5,000 worth of property.

Privilege of exemption is granted only to bona fide property owners in Hancock County who do not own property anywhere else and who are legal residents of Mississippi.

Residents of Bay St. Louis school district, which includes Bay St. Louis, Arlington, Waveland and Edwardsville, may apply in the first floor City Hall office of Warren Traub, commissioner of finance and tax assessor, and to the Courthouse office of tax assessor Ladner, County holds go only to the Courthouse.

2 Automobiles Plan Formal Openings Soon

Formal openings are scheduled in the next few days by two automobile agencies in Hancock County.

The first will be Saturday at Bankston Plymouth Company which has taken over the former Gulf Chevrolet Company quarters on South Beach Boulevard.

Gulf Chevrolet will mark its eighth anniversary under the proprietorship of Arthur B. Tipping when it opens the doors to its new plant on U. S. 90 just outside the western limits of Bay St. Louis on Wednesday.

Some 3,000 invitations are being extended to Chevrolet dealers along the coast and to customers of the firm to attend the celebration.

Tipping purchased the firm April 1, 1951.

The new plant covers 18,000 square feet on a four acre tract Tipping purchased last fall from Dan M. Russell Jr. Clearing of the property started shortly afterward and construction began late in the year.

The facility includes a main showroom and service building, a separate body and paint shop, an outdoor new car "showroom carport" and a "used car lot."

"With the opening of this new plant, we have the most up-to-date and efficient automobile plant on the coast," says Tipping, well-known to New Orleans and coastal car owners.

Arson and Forestry

One of Mississippi's larger businesses is forestry. Its annual volume of business is about $350 million. In Hancock County it is certainly the biggest dollar volume business, and probably more people derive income directly and indirectly from the county's woodlands than from any other source.

While approximately one fifth of the land area of the county is owned by International Paper Company, it is land generally not suited to a use more productive than the raising of wood. In addition in the gulf area International Paper Company buys 85 per cent of its needs from private individuals.

More important to the area are other aspects of the paper company's operation. International Paper Company and the Mississippi Forestry Commission and undoubtedly others will gladly give expert advice to land owners wishing to grow trees to their better advantage and greater profit. The paper company through its fire fighting in cooperation with the state foresters is a major reason that forest fires, such as that in 1956 that destroyed over 12,000 acres in Hancock County, are being held to less acreage.

It is estimated that more than three fourths of the forest fires in Hancock County are intentionally set. Those responsible not only break the law but seriously damage the economy of the county. Fires don't recognize boundary lines. It is those with small and moderate acreage who suffer the most.

A Neighbor Needs Help

While the United States is spending billions on foreign aid this year, starvation threatens many in the nearby friendly country of Haiti. According to the Associated Press, some 45,000 inhabitants of northwest Haiti are affected by famine with over 200 deaths so far and no prospect of real relief in sight.

Uncle Sam has provided some 600 tons of foodstuff as emergency aid to Haiti, but because of poor or non-existent transportation facilities little appears to have trickled through to the worst affected areas.

Tuesday the House of Representatives voted an additional $100 million to operate until June 30 a loan fund used to develop public works in underdeveloped countries. The Echo wonders if Haiti could get this more lasting form of assistance or is it too distant from Russia, geographically and otherwise? Short-sightedness can wreck governments as well as individuals and businesses.

An Associated Press dispatch says New York City wants to secede from New York State because the city officials are treated like an unwanted stepchild by the state legislature. Indeed a few weeks ago the legislature took away some of the city's control of its schools. Now the city can't prohibit some corporal punishment in its schools.

Ring leaders in similar treatment of the South, the city's politicians feel differently when they are the affected ones. It depends on whose ox is gored.

The Mississippi Easter Seal Society can provide therapy, equipment on a loan, home-bound employment, and vocational assistance to Mississippi's crippled children and adults if Mississippians give the needed funds. Contributions should be mailed to Dick Quin, First National Bank Building, Jackson.

Nobody worries about a fire at 2 a.m. quite as much as the man who sleeps in a nightshirt.

Conservation Practices Win Farmers' Support

Hancock County is richer and more productive because of work done by farmers in the agricultural conservation program, says F. Lee, chairman of the County ASC Committee.

Under the 1958 agricultural conservation program, 132 farmers in the county carried out one or more conservation practices. This number represents about 30 per cent of the total number of farmers in the county. Few people besides the farmers themselves realize all that has been done to protect and improve the soil and water resources in the county.

Through the conservation practices established, Hancock farmers have made material progress in controlling erosion and restoring productive capacity to the land. Some of the major conservation practices established

My Favorite Prayer

HON. S. ERNEST VANDIVER
Our hearts, Lord Jesus, melt as we stand in the shadow of the cross, Thine anguish shames us and Thy pain sets forth the exceeding sinfulness of our sins. By Thy stripes are we healed. Should the pathway we choose lead us to a cross, and the reward of our labor be a crown of thorns, grant, O crucified Saviour, that through the power of Thine atoning faith we may ever true and faithful be.

Farmer Jones goes to town for Borden's Buttermilk

FRESH-CHURNE COUNTRY FLAVOR

If you ever visit some of the nearby farms, don't be surprised to see a half carton of Borden's Buttermilk in the refrigerator. Why should Mrs. Farmer Jones churn her own buttermilk? Borden's Buttermilk is made from country-fresh milk with just the right amount of cream added to smooth and complement its natural tartness. Borden's Buttermilk has that fresh-churned country flavor plus a smoothness you can't get with the old-fashioned churn.

Kane Book Provides Delightful Look Into the Mississippi Coast's Character

Folklorists of every age along the Gulf Coast have a special treat in store in reading Harriet Kane's latest book, The Golden Shores, which pictures vividly in word and photograph the nature of the area stretching from Key West to Bryansville at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

This historical documentation has been added to the collection at the City-County Memorial Library through the generosity of Miss Louise A. Crawford. While Hancock County may be somewhat disappointed that the author did not devote more of this 18-page section on the Mississippi coast to the Bay-Waveland area, they undoubtedly will delight in his descriptions of this colorful part of the country which he labels Old South as the Gulf.

He writes of the magic area, the coast has meant to him since his boyhood in New Orleans and its character "of the true Old South. The custom started long ago of men coming in family groups with wives, children, horses and servants to rent a house for two or three months, with father commuting to the city, and escape the summer heat of the inland, and continues today on the modified scale of mid-20th century living.

On the 80-mile stretch of settlements in sight of the "low waves to the side and the sentinels of trees to the other," flourishes another Mississippi, so different from the rest of the state that it might be of another region, more liberal in outlook, more tolerant of man's lapses," reads The Golden Shores.

"It may or may not be true, for instance, that Mississippi will vote dry as long as it can stagger to the polls. The fact remains that in many rural and some sections a man who is rightly against rum for the record may tipple behind the bars."

"On the coast, for the most part, there are no barns to hide behind, and the people next door will hardly sneer at a game

Paul M. Miller Jr., delegate of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Main Street Methodist Church to the second annual youth conference in Meridian March 13-14, reported on the sessions when the local MYF met Sunday night.

Others from here attending were Ann Clark, Carol Western, Ulrike Winkelman, Kathleen and Richard Shaeffer, Bob Hamilton, Warren Traub, Jane Elliott, Bob Whitfield, Doty Estep and Eagen Carroll. They were accompanied by Mrs. Paul M. Miller Sr. and the Rev. A. M. Ellison.

The conference, at Central Methodist Church in Meridian, was preceded with a rally March 12, which included a fellowship supper and worship service with Bishop Marvin A. Franklin as speaker.

because they themselves may be trying their luck at the moment. The Gulf folk turn an amiable smile upward life; they think it not unreasonable for human beings to be well human."

Of the immediate area he discusses the obscurity in which the early settlers, of Spanish, French, German and other assorted origins, wished to reside free from the government at New Orleans.

"Some wanted to be let alone for reasons of their own," Kane writes. "Still standing at Wave-land is an impressive house dating (at least in part) to the early 1800s, with succored walls, a line of columns and dormer windows offering a view of the sea. Coast dwellers have named it 'the Pirate's House' and say it once had a tunnel under the road to the water's edge. . . . He tells of the abundance of tales of a treasure related to the dwelling.

Cat Island also is mentioned and Kane notes its part when a British expeditionary force of 50 ships, schooners, sloops and other vessels with 20,000 soldiers were en route to meet Andrew Jackson in 1814. The English tied up temporarily at Ship Island and a pair of soldiers went out to force. Jean Cuevas of Cat Island found them killing his cattle and shot two. When the English tried to make him guide them to New Orleans, he would have no part in that.

There is mention also of the daring effort by American forces to cope with the overpowering British naval flotilla in the waters near Bay St. Louis shortly after that. While the American forces didn't have a chance, they managed to delay the enemy for precious hours and the occasion went down in history as the final American battle with a foreign force, at least to date, in the nation's waters.

Kane notes the welcome given to the cotton planters from Natchez, sugar growers and sugar merchants from the New Orleans area. "With their families they sailed over the new roads, topped with crushed shells from the Gulf, and otherwise enjoyed the pastoral scene. The natives watched in curiosity as the newcomers' wide-skirted daughters swung about the parlors and over the wide galleries of the big houses. Biloxi, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian. . . Each had its followers. . . ."

Otherwise the chapter is devoted to the remainder of the Mississippi coast which both the natives and newcomers will find interesting in that it recites many stories of the early days, some

Optimistic Gulf Coast

As the vital facts and figures accumulate it becomes more apparent that 1958 was a banner year on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Despite a few industrial disappointments, the area expanded in population with an increasing prosperity felt in payrolls and cash registers.

Electric, gas, water and telephone connections for 1958 showed substantial gains over 1957, along with employment, bank deposits, retail sales, business and personal incomes. Retail sales increased $2 million over 1957, and the assessed value of property in Harrison County increased $5 million.

Major construction in progress in February 1959 includes a second generating unit for the Mississippi Power Company's local plant, a Federal Court Building for Biloxi, four lanes for U. S. Highway No. 49. New projects scheduled for 1959 include a bridge across the Bay of Biloxi, port construction for Gulfport, the utilization and renovation of the Merchant Marine Academy at Henderson Point, new bank buildings and other substantial projects under way.

The Keesler Air Force Base, the operating expenses which were $56 million in 1958, including a civil and military payroll of $47 million and $6 million in supplies, has under construction a missile training facility, bachelor quarters and a new chapel.

Never in her palmiest past has the Mississippi Gulf Coast prospered as it does from Bay Saint Louis to Pascagoula. This fast growing and rapidly developing area is one of the brightest spots on the national map. We have gathered an unprecedented economic momentum in Mississippi. If we continue to be both constructive and conservative, we can, with the wholehearted cooperation of people working in harmony, build a solid and diversified prosperity that can weather the trials and tribulations of the future. Our economy can be only as strong and as enduring as we in our common wisdom, determined endeavors and persistent frugality are willing to make it.

328 Voters Beat May 7 Deadline to Register

Voter interest in the forthcoming Democratic primary election Aug. 4 is evidenced by the registration since Jan. 1 of 328 Hancock County citizens apparently determined to avoid the rush on the May 7 deadline.

Actual there are fewer than 10,620 registered voters, since many who have registered since the last call have died and some voters have registered more than once.

Most counties require voters to register annually and many here are not aware that a registration is valid until the clerk calls a new one.

Breakdown of this year's registrations by precincts shows: Crane Creek, 3; Lakeshore, 5; Waveland, 35; Kila, 18; Central School, 41; Arlington, 4;

Edwardsville, 12; Flat Top, 14; Courthouse, 16; Fenton, 6; Caesar, 8;

Youth Treatment

There's a lively, youthful feeling about motoring with Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel. And the reason is: Flite-Fuel is made with extra-lively components.

The extra amounts of high test natural and aviation elements in Flite-Fuel give you easier starting... faster engine warm-up... quick acceleration. You get the anti-knock benefits resulting from high octane, yet Flite-Fuel actually costs less than many other premium gasolines.

Give your car a "youth treatment." Fill up with Flite-Fuel at your Phillips 66 Dealer's.
